RETURNABLE CONTAINER REPAIRS

APR Allen Plastics Repair can handle all your returnable container repair needs.

APR has decades of experience repairing all major brands and styles of collapsible containers. We stand behind our repairs with a 3-year workmanship warranty, so you can be confident that every container we repair for you will be safe, functional and ready to use. We have several standard bulk container repair programs to fit every budget and also work with our clients to develop a unique repair program to fit their specific needs.

Depending on your requirements and the repair program you choose, we will use a combination of parts from our stock, plastic welding technology and other innovative techniques developed by our team over the past 30 years to return as many safe and functional containers as possible.

Ask about our Mix & Match or “Cannibalize” repair program for the quickest and most cost effective way to get containers back into your system. We also offer a bulk container trade-in option, where you can trade your old broken containers in for high quality containers from our stock.

Utilizing APR’s container repair program you’ll be sure to receive quality refurbished containers or pallets back and enjoy great savings!

APR has the knowledge and experience to provide your company a safe, reliable and cost-effective container repair solution.

Our plastic repair programs provide you with a true repair, not just a temporary solution, guaranteed by a solid 3-year warranty.
